At lunchtime today the eggs might be in our classroom.

The eggs will be in an incubator.

Not all the eggs will have chickens inside them, so only some will hatch.

I will try to follow these rules:

1. The teachers are in charge of the eggs and the chickens.
2. I will only touch the eggs or chickens if my teachers say I can.
3. I will try to be quiet.
4. The teachers are the only people to touch the incubator.

On Friday the chickens will leave my classroom and go to live on a farm.
